DODGE BROTHERS INVOLVED IN $100,000,000 DEAL

Rumor Merger Of Auto Firms

Announcement of Negotiations Promised Later in Day by Dodge Executives

END OF FINANCIAL BATTLE Automobile Company Heads Deny Sale to General Motors Corporation

BULLETIN
Detroit, Mich.—Negotiations for the sale of Dodge Brothers, Inc., to a buyer or group of buyers whose identity has not been learned, are now in progress here and announcement may be expected later Wednesday, A. C. Schwartz, local representative of Dillon, Read and Co., New York banking firm, told newspaper men in the morning.

One rumor that had gained headway was spiced Wednesday when Alvan Macaulay, president of the Packard Motor Car Co., denied that his company was involved in any merger with the Hudson Motor Car Co. and the Briggs Body Corporation for the purchase of Dodge Brothers, Inc.

New York—News that the Dodge Brothers Automobile Co. of Detroit, has been acquired by a syndicate headed by the Banking Firm of Dillon, Read and Co., of New York, is commonly published here Wednesday as one of the most important financial transactions in the history of the automobile industry. The deal is said to have involved more than $100,000,000 practically in cash.

Representatives of the banking firm declined either to affirm or deny the sale and Clarence Dillon said that while final negotiations had not been completed, some announcement relative to the deal would be made within a day or two.

In financial circles here it was declared that the sale consummated a financial battle between Dillon, Read and Co. and the house of J. P. Morgan and Co., representing the General Motors Co., to gain control of Dodge Brothers property. It was also believed that the sale was preparatory to a $50,000,000 merger of the Dodge property, the Packard Motor company and the Hudson Motor Co. and the Briggs Body Corporation, confirmation for this also was lacking.

BEGAN WITH FORD

Sale of the Dodge Brothers Company marks an eventful step in the dramatic history of the concern which began under the guidance of John and Horace Dodge who had been stockholders in the Ford Motor Company. The present firm was started in 1914 with a capitalization of $10,000,000 which was increased to $50,000,000 in 1923. The major part of the share is held by the Dodge estate.

Last year the concern did a gross business of $191,000,000 and it is expected that the sales will go over $200,000,000 this year. Assets on the last available date, June 30, 1924, were $75,067,333 a total that is believed to have increased to well over $100,000,000.

REFUSE TO TALK

Detroit, Mich.—Officials of the Dodge Bros. Co., Wednesday refused to confirm or deny reports from New York that the company had been sold. Arthur T. Waterfall, vice president and assistant general manager of the company, and John Ballantyne, treasurer, asserted that no sale of the company had been announced.

Mr. Waterfall indicated that it was probable some announcement regarding the company would be made during the day but flatly refused to anticipate what it would be. It has been reported for some time that negotiations were in progress for the sale of the company. Those in touch with the situation Wednesday, however, did the opinion that the announcement contemplated would not be confirming a $50,000,000 merger to include the Packard Motor Car Co., the Hudson Motor Car Co. and the Briggs Body Corporation as reported in New York.

MERGER REFUSED

It was rumored some time ago that attempts were being made to negotiate such a merger but that both the Hudson and Packard Companies refused to consider the deal. A report recently that the sale of the company to the General Motors Corporation was contemplated was vigorously denied several days ago by Dodge Brothers officials. The banking firm of Dillon, Read and Company of New York was reported to be acting in the negotiations in progress but no official of the Dodge Brothers company would intimate whom they represent.

INDIANS NEAR HERE SUFFER FROM HUNGER

U. S. Attorney Told Oneida Indians Are Unable to Obtain Livelihood

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Representatives of the United States department of justice will be sent to the Oneida Indian reservation shortly to investigate conditions there following representations made to E. J. Koelzer, assistant United States district attorney here Wednesday. William Skendore, an Oneida Indian from the reservation, called on Mr. Koelzer and advised him that conditions on the Indian reservation are unsatisfactory, and many families are suffering from lack of food, due largely to irregularities in land transactions, which left the Indians without means of obtaining a livelihood.

Skendore declared a large number of Indians have disposed of their holdings to whites. In violation of the treaty of 1854 which provides that no Oneida Indian may dispose of his 160 acres of land to others than his immediate heirs. This treaty was originally drawn to expire in 1918, but during the Wilson administration an additional nine years was added, making the expiration fall in 1927.

White men who desired the lands owned by the Indians, according to Skendore, purchased the same from the Indians for a small sum of money and many of the bargains involved a quantity of flour.

PANIC BLAMED FOR LOSS OF 78 GERMAN SOLDIERS

By Associated Press
Veltheim, Germany—Further details of the disaster Tuesday at Detmold, in which 78 Reichswehr soldiers were drowned in the sinking of a pontoon, were received here Wednesday.

When the pontoon, carrying about 100 men across the Weser river began to sink, the officers immediately ordered the soldiers, most of whom were young and inexperienced, to sit themselves on their guns and kits, but the men grew panicky and dashed headlong into the water.

Many evidently thought they could wade to the shore which seemed quite near, but as the river here is forced into a narrow channel about 200 feet wide, the current is rapid and the depth even near the shore is about nine feet. The soldiers were not from marching and it is believed many were numbed by the shock of the cold water and thus rendered incapable of helping themselves. Two sections had already been transported across the pontoon ferry when the disaster occurred.

Political Morality Of Lawmakers To Be Aired In Congress

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1925 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—There are indications that the whole subject of political morality as it affects individual members of the senate and house may be opened to general discussion when the next congress meets.

Senator Wheeler was indicted recently for alleged acceptance of a fee before the took the oath of office but for which fee he is supposed to have represented his constituents before government departments.

Now comes the disclosure that members of congress have accepted special privileges from shipping board officials given in order that they might be kept "good natured" with reference to annual appropriations.

PROBE CAMPAIGNS
On top of this some of the insurgent senators are talking about investigating campaign contributions so as to determine whether any constituent who received a favor from a member of the senate and house in effect repaid such member of congress by contributing to campaign funds in subsequent elections.

Where does the line of impropriety begin and end? Special cables in the last 24 hours state members of congress sailing on American vessels operated through the shipping board were not charged with minimum fares. The practice is defended by shipping board men on the ground that other shipping lines do the same thing. The question, however, is not of any wrong practice on the part of the shipping board but whether members of congress are justified in accepting what are in effect rebates on their fares not only for themselves but for their families.

PICK JURY TO TRY SLAYER FOR SANITY

Dorothy Ellingson Spends Seventeenth Birthday in Courtroom

San Francisco—Dorothy Ellingson, accused of matricide, observed her seventeenth birthday anniversary here Wednesday by appearing in court proceedings participated in by attorneys, alienists and other witnesses to determine whether she was insane when she shot and killed her mother, Mrs. Anna Ellingson, one night last January.

The jury which will pass upon her sanity was sworn in Tuesday night after brief proceedings. It is composed of three women and nine men. The prosecution Tuesday night denied it had obtained a signed statement from the young defendant in which she said she was sane and wanted to plead guilty to a charge of having killed her mother, with a full realization of the seriousness of this admission.

The defense was just as emphatically positive in denying the truth of vague reports that their client had repudiated her attorneys and confessed her alleged failure to consult her before demanding her trial on a charge of insanity.

STATE RESTS ITS CASE AGAINST ARCH-CRIMINAL

Hartford, Conn.—After two pistol experts had positively declared that the bullet which killed Patrolman James Skelly in New Britain last October 12 had been fired from General Chapman's gun, the state's murder case against the notorious bandit was completed shortly before noon Wednesday.

Directly after the prosecution's case, Nathan O. Freedman of Chapman's counsel moved that the indictment be dismissed on the ground the state had not proven its case against the accused. Judge Newell Jennings denied the motion.

FIND BANK BOOK LISTING $60,000 ON SLAIN MAN

New York—The body of a man, containing two bullet wounds and believed to be that of Mach Passwell of St. Louis, was found Tuesday stuffed in the narrow arway of an upper Park avenue tenement house.

It is believed the man was a savings bank book showing deposits of $60,000. Passwell who was registered at the hotel Alhambra in upper Broadway is believed by the police to have been a dealer in sacramental wines. They said the slain man carried large bank balances other than the one shown by the deposit book found in his pocket.

Police said they were certain he was not slain where the body was found.

DEFER SENATE VOTE ON PLEA FOR 2.75 BEER

Gettelman Says He Has Support of Drys for His Enforcement Bill

By Associated Press
Madison—The state senate failed to take action Wednesday on the proposal by its committee on state and local government to memorialize congress to modify the federal constitution to permit the manufacture and sale of 2.75 alcohol content beer. Upon the offering of a sub-amendment by Senator Harry Sauthoff the resolution was laid over under the rules. Upon motion of Senator Ben Gettelman a decisive vote on the issue will be taken next Wednesday.

BACK TO COMMITTEE

Two bills by Senator Gettelman pertaining to state liquor laws were referred back to the committee on state and local government on motion of the senator who said that those who had opposed the bill on its previous hearing now wished to be reheard. Senator Gettelman said there had been much misunderstanding about his bill to make the Sevenson act conform to the federal law in connection with the manufacture of cider and fruit juices by individuals.

HAS DRY SUPPORT

The Rev. G. Kenneth MacInnis, Milwaukee dry leader was in Madison Wednesday and conferred with Senator Gettelman on the "home brew" bill. At the close of the conference, Senator Gettelman announced he had obtained the support of the Rev. Mr. MacInnis in so far as the proposal to make the federal dry law conform to that of many dries who had heretofore opposed the bill would reappear in committee and speak in favor of enforcement, which is all his bill asks, he said.

The senate was prevented from taking action on the Blaine Bill to provide a new method of selecting members of the state highway commission by the introduction of a sub-amendment by Senator A. E. Garey. The substitute provides an appointive committee of five persons but changes the original bill only so far as its scientific membership is concerned.

ABANDON HOPE FOR RESCUE
OF 38 TRAPPED MINERS

Newcastle, England—A new pump was a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons a minute will be taken to the Montague colliery Scoobwood Wednesday, but the crews attempting to rescue 38 miners trapped by a flood in the pit Monday believe that even with this machine it may take several weeks to pump out the water.

Parties coming out of the mine Wednesday morning said that the continued inrush of water had halted every effort to penetrate the workings where the men and boys were trapped. Hope of a rescue was virtually abandoned but the rescue parties nevertheless are continuing their work feverishly.

CHARGE SHEPHERD WAS INDICTED ON FAKE TESTIMONY

File Affidavits Disputing Fairman's Claim He Got Germs from City

Chicago—New affidavits charging that William D. Shepherd, under indictment, was charged with murder on the framed testimony, were taken to the criminal court today by Shepherd's counsel.

The affidavits, to be filed in the renewal of the plea for freedom on bail for Shepherd which once was denied, dispute the testimony of C. C. Fairman, head of a science school who testified he gave Shepherd typhoid germs with which the state charges Shepherd murdered his foster son, William X. McClintock to which his million dollar estate, one affidavit, defense counsel said, was that of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, health commissioner of Chicago, who made oath that no typhoid or other germ cultures could be taken from the health department without the knowledge of two of its assistants, both of whom made affidavits that they did not furnish Fairman with such germs. Fairman said he obtained the germs from the health department without any writing or other record being made.

The state is demanding refusal of the defense more for reconsideration of the bail question and insists on an early trial of Shepherd. The bail hearing will be resumed Thursday.

DEFENDS BLAINE

Assemblyman B. Z. Glass Milwaukee, a progressive who joined in opposition to the bill which was sponsored by the administration progressives, then took the floor. Although he opposed the tax measure, he defended Governor Blaine, declaring the executive had been made "a football of the conservatives and socialists." Mr. Glass contended the bill was not a progressive measure. He read from the Milwaukee leader, socialist newspaper in an attempt to support his arguments.

FED LIQUOR TO GRAND JURY WITNESSES, WHEELER SAYS

By Associated Press
Chicago—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, en route Tuesday night to Montana to stand trial April 14, charged that during the grand jury inquiry which resulted in his indictment recently on charges of representing a client before a federal bureau while holding his senatorial office, federal agents had given government witnesses intoxicants.

"In indicting me," said the senator, "the department of justice is carrying out a boot made months ago by Harry M. Daugherty. They brought many witnesses I never had heard of herded them together in a Wisconsin hotel and supplied them with unlimited liquor for three weeks, to give them courage to carry out the designs of the prosecutors."

PRACTICE RIGHT TO PICK GOOD MEN TO MAKE OUR LAWS

Teachers Urged to Work for Preservation of American Constitution

An appeal to practice what the constitution of the United States offers, the right to select the fittest persons to execute the affairs of the country, was made by Harry F. Atwood, Chicago lawyer, in an address before the Appleton Teachers association Tuesday night in Hotel Northern. Atwood has been speaking in all parts of the country on the constitution, and Tuesday night made his appeal here, urging teachers to use the right given by the constitution of the United States instead of complaining of poor government after evil had prevailed. It is the American government, its constitution, that has made the United States stand out among nations, just as art has made Greece famous. All through the ages the pendulum representing government swings from one extreme to the other, from the tyrannical hereditary form of government to the socialistic form that spells chaos. It is the constitution by which the United States is governed, in Mr. Atwood's opinion, that has stopped the pendulum midway between the two extremes. The men who framed the constitution had in mind such a government when they met to draw it up. It was not written for any special period, it is applicable today as it was yesterday, and yet, Mr. Atwood said, there are those who deplore the condition of the country is in without exercising the privilege of sending to the congress and senate those who are best fitted to shape the course of the state.

AVOID EXTREMES

The man who wrote the constitution bore in mind two things, that any form of hereditary government was bad because of its tyrannical tendencies and that it also was wise to avoid any direct form of democracy, which ultimately means chaos. With this in mind, then, they set up the present form of government, a republic which has endured these many years.

It is this right given by the constitution, the right of choosing the most excellent person for the high position, that the American people have sought to destroy within the last years, and none more than in Wisconsin. Atwood maintained, declaring he could not understand why, after inheriting a government that had proven its worth, the nation's people should set out to destroy it. Again and again Mr. Atwood sounded the theory of sending the fittest to represent the people, in order that those who are to make laws might have the comprehension and understanding of the important questions they were acting upon. He scoffed at the thought of submitting an important question to people who could neither read nor write.

PROGRESS LIKE A CRAB

The nation is conspicuously, bonafide of the progress it has made, yet in the last 20 years the average size of criminals has decreased 15 years, taxes have multiplied rapidly and the number of laws have been put upon the statute books each year.

He warned against socialism which he declared would paralyze any nation. Before the constitution had been framed, United States was in as bad a condition as Russia is today, and three years after such progress had been made that Washington wrote to his friends saying that anyone who had prophesied such a change might come out of the circus would have been declared insane. Such is the power of the constitution, Mr. Atwood said.

One of the difficulties with the American people is that they always maintain the possibility of two sides to the question, Mr. Atwood said. He stated that no progress could be made in a field where there are two sides to consider, but only where there is one and where the person may progress on a proven basis. People nowadays boast of being broadminded. What we need is deep-minded people, he said.

To progress one must understand the proposition and then be able to apply it to the next problem. Thus it was with the constitution. The men who wrote it, he said, considered all governments of all nations before they attempted forming this government. He urged that instead of floundering about, we stop to reckon how far we have gotten away from the starting point to stop to ascertain how far we are departing from the course, and then, if need be, return to the beginning.

A program was presented preceding Mr. Atwood's talk. It included a concert by the First Ward school orchestra, directed by Miss Hazel Smith, two readings, "A Little Red Head" by Ruth Wood and "A Newsboy's Troubles" by Ruth Harris, both of the Fifth ward school, and a vaudeville skit by principals of the city schools.

Vanity Case Makers Try Hard To Help Women Keep Shine Off Their Noses

Shiny noses, pale cheeks and lips and light-colored eyebrows are the principal things that worry a woman most when she regards herself in the mirror, and to this end the manufacturers of vanities have done their utmost to help her.

Several years ago, when the vanity, containing powder in compact form, was introduced there was only one kind, either thick gold or silver box, usually round, containing a hard cake of powder and a puff. Today there are hundreds of different models, thick and thin, long and wide, round and square, and single and double.

At present the thin case is the most desired, for it is conveniently slipped into a purse or pocket. The popularity of the double compact, containing both rouge and powder, is waning, for the double vanity is cumbersome and doesn't fit the popular flat purse.

There are double compacts in thinner models, but as a general thing the double compact is only used when it is necessary to carry rouge with one. The ordinary compact, used only to powder the nose, is most popular. Often the single compact contains lipstick, for like powder, the lipstick wears off more quickly than rouge, and so it is needed more.

A new type is made of red leather, heart-shaped, and contains powder and lipstick. Another popular style is the vanity with a wrist strap. This vanity has space for powder compact, lipstick, eyebrow pencil, small perfume bottle, mirror, coin case and rouge compact.

The loose powder vanity, so constructed that one may use her favorite powder, is rapidly gaining favor, because it is economical. The loose powder case has a sifter top. Another advantage is that there is no powder compact to break, a point makes this model a great favorite with girls and women.

Vanities, both double and single with tops gayly decorated with stones and carving, are popular novelties.

Some of the manufacturers are now putting forth a glove-size vanity that may be slipped into a glove just as one would slip in a coin. These, however, are very new and have yet to gain popularity. Dealers believe, however, that the small glove-sized vanity will be extremely popular in a short time.

STATE SPONSORS SCHOOL TO TRAIN METER READERS

The fifth annual school for electric metermen, to which Appleton metermen are eligible, will be conducted from April 7 to 11 at the University of Wisconsin. The school is held each year by the university extension division and the college of engineering, in cooperation with state railroad commission and the Wisconsin electricians association. Prof. C. M. Jansky is in charge.

Last year 35 Wisconsin cities sent 45 men and the total attendance was 51. Of these, 23 had attended previous sessions; six had enrolled in all three former schools, and eight had enrolled in two previous sessions. Twenty-four different companies were represented.

The purpose of the school is to assist the electric utilities in training men for operation, testing, and maintenance of electrical measuring instruments. A staff of 16 instructors was used last spring.

SALVATION ARMY ACTIVE IN EIGHTY COUNTRIES

A report just received by Captain Edward Shaw, in charge of the local corps of the Salvation Army, describes the growth of the organization throughout the world during 1924, and says particularly emphatically upon the rapid spread of its missionary work in many distant fields.

The report has been prepared at the territorial headquarters in Chicago for distribution among all officers in connection with the Diamond Jubilee observance of the Army, which occurs this year. Founded in 1865, as a small mission in the East End of London, the organization is now 59 years old. In spite of this short existence, the Army has now flies in 80 countries and colonies, and its religious and social activities are conducted in 55 languages and dialects.

PARALYSIS DID NOT RESULT FROM FALL, DOCTOR SAYS

Diagnosis Is Changed When Physician Hears His Patient's History

Changing his diagnosis on the strength of information withheld from him when he was first consulted, Dr. Victor F. Marshall told Commissioner R. G. Knutson of the Industrial commission Tuesday afternoon that John Peterson of Menasha had become paralytic through an affection of the cerebral membrane and not from the effects of a fall from a 20-foot scaffold last August. A physician employed by the insurance company in which Peterson held a policy disclosed the symptoms previously withheld from Dr. Marshall, and stated that four other medical experts had diagnosed the case as paralysis resulting from acute anterior poliomyelitis. When Doctor Marshall heard the complete history of the case he changed his diagnosis.

Peterson was engaged as carpenter by F. Behrke, Menasha contractor, when he fell from a scaffold and was seriously injured. He sought to recover damages from his employer under the workmen's compensation act but his claim was disallowed by the Industrial Commission sitting in Madison last November.

The case of Levi Levizov vs. The Rainbow Gardens, in which Levizov is trying to recover damages for injuries received while acting as doorman at the Gardens in 1922, developed into an argument as to the wages of such an employee. Levizov was represented by Judge Fred V. Heinemann, while Bradford and Bradford represented the Gardens.

This case has been carried to the state supreme court in a legal battle of more than two years, and then was referred back to the commission for rehearing. The commission originally had decided in favor of Levizov. This decision was appealed to the circuit court of Danco which upheld the award. Rainbow Gardens then appealed to the state supreme court, and the case referred to the industrial commission for rehearing.

The following witnesses were called Tuesday afternoon: Otto Zuehlke, Outagamie co. sheriff at the time of the injury; Charles Malone, amusements promoter in the Fox river valley; Gilbert Horst, present manager of Rainbow Gardens; H. J. Ullman, Greenville; Lawrence Sevo, Black Creek, and Howard Campbell, Town of Harrison; deputy sheriffs and doorkeepers at various places of amusement in this vicinity.

Most of the doorkeepers testified that the usual wage given them was $5 per night, while the employers stated that from $1 to $2 per night was all they paid. Testimony of the doorman brought out the fact that in most cases when they were sent out by the sheriff, they received their pay through him and that one of their duties was to preserve the peace. Mr. Zuehlke stated that the earnings of a deputy from serving warrants could not be more than $50 per year, while the doorman declared their annual earnings as doorman was from $175 to $300.

The method of determining the extent of disability in injury cases was the basis of discussion in the case of Joseph Fleischman vs. the Combined Locks Paper Co. Dr. D. J. O'Connor told the commission that by using instruments of precision he had determined that Fleischman's disability as a result of an injury received while working in the Combined Locks mill was 50 per cent in the index finger, 75 per cent in the second finger, 80 per cent in the ring finger and 90 per cent in the little finger. He further stated that estimates of disability made without instruments must be guesswork.

Dr. Marshall and Dr. C. E. Ryan differed slightly as to the extent of Fleischman's total disability. Dr. Ryan estimated the total disability as 25 per cent, Dr. Marshall as 20 per cent and Dr. O'Connor as 20 per cent, but all of them agreed that Fleischman's forearm would never be normal again.

Twenty residents of the Fourth ward Tuesday evening formed the nucleus of a new organization and adopted the title of the Fourth Ward Advancement association. A temporary executive committee was named, consisting of George C. Dana, as chairman, Charles Schrimpf, Arthur Noffke and John Reitter.

The purpose of the association is to advertise the value of the Fourth ward to home builders and its possibilities in the way of real estate. The association plans to urge the extension of the city limits beyond Calumet-st on the south, in order to improve real estate there.

A public meeting has been scheduled at the Fourth ward school sometime during the next two weeks, but the definite date will be set later.

TOY COMPANY FINALLY FORCED INTO BANKRUPTCY

On the petition of certain creditors the Toy Company of America was declared bankrupt on Tuesday. No schedules were filed, showing assets and liabilities. The company has ten days to do this.

The Toy Company of America was declared bankrupt after most of its machinery and office properties had been sold at sheriff's auctions to satisfy the claims of creditors. These sales were spread over a period of several months, but the stockholders refused to make a voluntary plan of bankruptcy.

ONLY RATIONAL TAX PROPOSALS ARE THOSE THAT REDUCE TAXES

Two rational tax proposals, and two only, have been before the Wisconsin legislature. One was a bill to reduce income taxes by 25 per cent and the other a bill to reduce general property taxes by a like amount. In view of the large revenue surpluses brought to the state by the present taxes, it is self-evident that what we need in this state is lower taxes. We are not only entitled to lower taxes because we raise more funds than are necessary for public requirements, but because there is a vast amount of waste and extravagance that could be saved to the taxpayer through reasonable economy.

The tax measures which have been put forward in the name of the administration are vicious and unjust. They cannot be successfully defended from any standpoint. They represent merely a coarse attack by politics on the prosperity and advancement of the state. The so-called "shift" of taxes they are supposed to embody is a pure illusion. Nothing of the kind will occur, could occur. The net result would be an increase in the taxes of many business institutions, particularly of the smaller class. It would put an outrageous tax on mercantile business and manufacturing, all of which would be paid by the consumer as an addition to his cost of living. It would have a further depressing effect on business, which is not as good in Wisconsin today as it might be. It would give no relief to general property taxpayers.

Adding to the folly of these tax proposals, which are a blind thrust by socialists and their radical consorts, is the fact that the state treasury is already overflowing with a needless surplus and that additional taxes will merely mean additional extravagance and waste. We cannot see how any citizen, no matter how strongly he may feel about political divisions in Wisconsin, can shut his eyes to the demagoguery and evils which stand out so glaringly in these tax proposals.

Assemblyman Ingalls has introduced in the legislature a resolution to defer the question of further tax revision in Wisconsin until a disinterested commission can make an investigation of the matter from the standpoint of all interests involved, including local as well as state requirements. This is a just and reasonable suggestion. It is the right course if the legislature wants to be right. The bills before it were hastily drawn. There has been no time or disposition to give them serious study. They make several fundamental changes in our tax system, the consequences of which will be far-reaching and without doubt damaging. Tax legislation ought not to be enacted in this fashion. It is one of the most difficult problems of government, and no good can come from schemes evolved hastily by politicians, particularly where they are embittered against a class or wish to serve a purpose that is admittedly prejudicial.

It is obvious that the rank and file of members of the legislature do not know what it is all about, that they have little knowledge of the subject of taxation and haven't the slightest idea as to what will happen under the proposals they are considering. The two houses are involved in differences which are accentuated by factional quarrels. The controversy has degenerated into a personal and political free-for-all. All hope of intelligent consideration of tax legislation is gone. For these and many other reasons the subject should go over until a commission can make an investigation and recommendations.

SENSITIVE FRENCH

Although milder terms are employed to express the administration's reception of France's sudden refusal to participate in the disarmament conference Mr. Coolidge wants to call, there can be little doubt that it has produced genuine astonishment at Washington. The president would not have put out feelers for a conference had he not believed they would meet with a favorable reception and that the situation was ripe for a further reduction of naval armament. But he had not counted on the super-sensitiveness of France over her national security.

If there is one thing in which French statesmanship has been consistent it is the risking of no chances against a return of the tragedy that fell in 1914. France has tried British patience to the utmost and at times has called forth the unfavorable criticism of even her friends in America. It was French conviction that only by her own military superiority over Germany could armed neutrality between the two nations be enforced. She fully expected Germany to retaliate when she had the strength. Therefore her demands wrote into the treaty of Versailles the penalties which sought to keep Germany in a state of military weakness. Clemenceau distrusted the League of Nations and neither he nor Foch at that time could conceive of peace guaranteed by justice and disarmament. France could see only Germany, her erstwhile nemesis, as a beaten enemy and resolved to keep her militarily under her heel if that were possible. She could not grasp Mr. Wilson's idea of peace through understanding and association. Only guns and men counted—and an alliance with Great Britain.

Considering all the circumstances and the fiery ordeal through which France had just come, she is not to be condemned for the attitude she then took. She had only the experience of the past on which to formulate her philosophy and policies, and that experience was altogether on the side of the course she took. The same explanation applies to her occupation of the Ruhr and to her many differences with Great Britain over reparations and other phases of the treaty.

With reparations temporarily out of the way, she has during the last two months given her attention exclusively to practical measures for national security. In plain terms, she wanted a renewal of her pre-war alliance with Great Britain. Although the latter recognizes that in the event of war between France and Germany she would be drawn in, she is unwilling to commit herself in advance, but French skepticism takes nothing for granted. At this critical point Germany comes forward with what have the appearance of being sincere proposals for an agreement between the three nations in the interest of permanent peace. There is a frank acceptance of the status quo on her western frontiers, including the final relinquishing of all claims in Alsace-Lorraine, plainly concessive to French sensitiveness and militarism. Some modifications of the treaty are sought on the basis of fair play and conciliation.

If an agreement were reached Germany would enter the League of Nations and assume the obligations required of her. England seems to accept the proposals in good faith and with favor. France wants to accept them but is still suspicious. If Germany is honest, she has thrown down the bars and made overtures for genuine peace. The outcome of the negotiations is in doubt. The world expects them to be successful. In the meantime France does not wish to be bothered with a disarmament conference, limited as it would be to cruisers, her main defense; in short, she would deem it highly inexpedient in the face of the existing uncertainties and what she still regards as her insecurity.

CHRONIC GAS POISONING.

There are still a few people who have not learned that carbon monoxide is an exceedingly poisonous gas which is present in the exhaust from a gasoline engine, in illuminating gas, in the fumes from an open coal or charcoal fire and in the fumes or products of combustion wherever any fuel is burned without a good draft or without a free supply of air. Every little while in the colder season someone who has not learned about the deadly effect of carbon monoxide is found dead under or about an automobile, the engine of which has been running for a while in a small closed garage. The air of a small confined space such as a garage, a small kitchen or a small bedroom where a gas heater is used, will overcome one who breathes it when there is only one part of carbon monoxide gas in 200 parts of air, and if the person overcome by the poison is not immediately discovered and resuscitated or at least removed to the open air, death is likely to follow quickly. According to the statistics of the health authorities there are 18 deaths each year in the city of Buffalo from carbon monoxide, generally from gas stoves which are not connected with the flue. Buffalo civil authorities, however, consider 18 lives a reasonable price to pay for the convenience and cash saving the people enjoy from using stoves without stove pipes.

Chronic carbon monoxide poisoning is even less commonly recognized than the acute form. It is seldom directly fatal and its manifestations are therefore frequently misinterpreted. A fruitful source of chronic carbon monoxide poisoning, manifesting itself usually as headache, languor and debility, is the stove or furnace in which anthracite coal is burned for heating the dwelling, store, shop or office, especially when the fire burns with closed draft, when an portion of the stove becomes red hot, when there is a slight leak in the flue or chimney.

Add to the headache, languor and general debility another interesting and rather characteristic feature of chronic carbon monoxide poisoning, a pallor resembling the pallor of a marked anemia, and you can readily imagine how often the meaning of the manifestations is mistaken. The shut-in housekeeper who comes through the winter in poor condition and clamors for a "good tonic," in the spring is often suffering from chronic poisoning from furnace, gas heat or carbon monoxide. A peculiar feature of this apparent anemia is pointed out by Drs. H. B. Beck and W. F. Ferts in a recent contribution to Annals of Clinical Medicine. They say that the red corpuscle count in these cases generally shows a high figure, often over 5,000,000 corpuscles per cubic millimeter of blood, whereas from 4,000,000 to 4,500,000 is the usual count in the healthy. This high red cell count, with the peculiar pallor which would ordinarily suggest anemia, is almost a certain sign of chronic monoxide poisoning. Not that there is any specific treatment for the condition, but it is at least well to know that the symptoms are not from anemia, rundown condition, overwork, worry and care, nervous exhaustion, or even the climate. In cases of more than ordinary severity, chronic carbon monoxide poisoning sometimes causes mental aberration.

The dangerous or deadly effect of this colorless, odorless, tasteless gas which burns with a pale blue flame depends on the fact that carbon monoxide combines with the hemoglobin (red coloring matter) of the red corpuscles and prevents them from carrying oxygen to the body cells and tissues. LOOKING BACKWARD

After successive defeats for six years the Democrats were again in possession of the reins of municipal government. David Hammel was elected mayor. John Goodland, Jr., city treasurer. Thomas H. The results were: First Ward, Herman Hecker, Republican; Second, Fred Peterson, Democrat; Third, John Mauer, Democrat; Fourth, John Leonhardt, Democrat; Fifth, William Stip, Democrat; Sixth, H. W. Badgers Not Leaders In Good Schools

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—By two distinct processes for determining the educational standing of the states of the union it has been found that practically the same states head the list for the year 1922. By the method of index numbers they are, ranking in the order named, California, New Jersey, Ohio, Washington, Indiana, New York, Nevada, Michigan, Arizona and Montana.

Similarly by the method of ranks they have been found to be: Washington, California, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, District of Columbia, New York, Iowa, Nevada and New Jersey. The states including the District of Columbia as a state appear in one list of the first ten and are not found in the other. Arizona, ranked ninth by the index method, and Montana, ranked tenth, are, respectively, twenty-sixth and sixteenth by the ranks method. The District of Columbia, which comes sixth under the latter system of ranking, and Iowa, which is eighth, are, respectively, seventeenth and eleventh by the index number method.

TWO SYSTEMS USED

Five years ago Leonard P. Ayres used the index method in preparing a monograph for the Russell Sage foundation that aroused much discussion at the time of its appearance. Dr. Frank M. Phillips, of George Washington university, has now created a similar survey with a study in which he uses the method of ranks and compares his results with those of Colonel Ayres.

Although Dr. Phillips is also identified with the United States bureau of education he did not undertake this work as a government official and his monograph is not issued as a government publication, but has been published by the Bruce Publishing company, of Milwaukee, under the title, "Educational Ranking of States by Two Methods."

Data covering ten points which are purely non-personal and which have to do chiefly with school attendance and costs were tabulated by Colonel Ayres in applying his method of index numbers. These points are: Per cent of school population attending school; daily average number of days attended by each child of school age; average number of days schools were open; per cent that high school attendance is of total attendance; per cent that boys are to girls in high schools; average annual expenditure per child attending; average annual expenditure per child of school age; average annual expenditure per teacher employed; expenditure per pupil for purposes other than teachers' salaries; and expenditure per teacher for salaries.

INDEX NUMBERS AVERAGED
The sum of ten indices for these points was then divided by ten to get the index number of a particular state for a given year, and the States were ranked according to these index numbers. Colonel Ayres obtained indices by state for 1890, 1900, 1910, 1916 and 1922. Dr. Phillips in his study carried this work forward to cover the year 1922 by the Ayres method in order that a comparison of the results obtained by the two methods might be made for the last year for which data were available.

The ten points selected by Dr. Phillips in working out this method of ranks are: Percentage of illiterate ten years of age and over; ratio of number of children in average daily attendance to number 5 to 17 years of age inclusive; percentage of attendance in high school; average number of days attended by each child enrolled; average number of days schools were kept open; ratio of number of students taking normal training ing courses to number of teaching positions; percentage of high school graduates continuing their education; to total cost, excluding salaries, per pupil in average daily attendance; and average annual salary of teachers, principals and supervisors.

Five of the points used by Colonel Ayres had to do with attendance, school opportunity afforded, etc., and five with expenditures. Four of Dr. Phillips' points deal with school sessions and attendance, three with preparation and results, and three with school costs.

The states in addition to the ten already named as heading the list are ranked for 1922 by the Ayres method as follows, in the order named: Iowa, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wyoming, Illinois, District of Columbia, Utah, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, South Dakota, Oregon, Kansas, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, North Dakota, New Hampshire, Vermont, Delaware, Missouri, Maine, Maryland, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia, Virginia, Louisiana, Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and South Carolina.

Unusual People

"FROM RICHES TO RAGS"

From "rags to riches" was reversed in the case of Mrs. Adele McMaisters, whom fate has led from a royally appointed castle, near Bordeaux, her birthplace to the role of a crippled pencil saleswoman on the streets of St. Paul, Minn.

Her mother, daughter of the Marquis de Fournier, was exiled when she married a Huguenot, and the girl, thrown on her own resources, came to America and opened a bookstore on Staten Island. Her first husband died and her second matrimonial attempt was not a success.

"I will not go to a poorhouse," she says determinedly, "so I'll sell pencils."

Q. Is denatured alcohol used in the hair tonics that are on the market? J. P. McC.

A. The United States government has prescribed formulas of specially denatured alcohol for use in the manufacture of toilet articles and medicinal preparations such as hair dressings, perfumes, shaving creams, dentifrices, liniments and the like. Completely denatured alcohol which is sold to the public for heating, cooking, non-freezing solutions, etc., could not be used, as it would be injurious to the scalp.

Q. Are there any statistics to show what proportion of housewives bake their own bread, or have it baked at home, and what proportion use baker's bread? T. A. S.

A. There are no official data of that kind. It is said, however, that in a census taken in San Francisco out of 104,770 women questioned 381 were buyers of the family bread.

Q. How is Walter Reed Hospital supported? J. L. N.

A. It is an Army Hospital. It does not receive a separate appropriation but comes under the general appropriation of the War Department.

Q. Did William Penn own land in this country before he came over? H. O. W.

A. He received a grant of land in Pennsylvania on March 4, 1681, and sailed for America September 1, 1682.

Q. Why is the Dead Sea never navigated? A. T. C.

A. The Dead Sea has been navigated. Strabo and Diodorus tell of fleets from which men fished for butemen. There have also been several scientific expeditions on the sea for purposes of investigation. The sea contains no life of any kind with the exception of a few microbes. This is due to its extreme salinity.

McTangle

LETTER FROM RUTH BURKE TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CONTINUED I had said nothing, Leslie, while the girl was telling her story and here she looked up quickly and asked if she were boring me.

"No, no. Go on! I am most interested," I exclaimed.

"And so the time went on, Mrs. Burke," she continued, "until one day I was out doing some shopping alone when I met Mr. Stores on the Rue de la Paix. He said he would ride home with me to luncheon but when we got into the town car he told the chauffeur to drive through the Bois.

"Then without any preamble he told me he loved me and asked me to help him kidnap the child and go away with him. He had a mad plan to go to the west coast of Africa where he said no one would look for us.

"Of course I told him it was impossible, which turned him into a wild man. For a while I fought silently but at last I had to ask the chauffeur to let me out of the car.

"The man, although shut off from us by glass, must have known something was wrong, for he promptly stopped the car, although Mr. Stores shouted for him to drive on.

"I managed to get myself clear from my employer's clinging hands and almost before the motor had stopped I was on the ground.

"I slammed the door, for Mr. Stores was trying to get out after me, telling the chauffeur to drive his master home as I thought he had suddenly gone mad.

"For days afterwards I was on a ship sailing for America. When I arrived I did not know what to do. I had very little money and I knew absolutely no one in this country.

"Harry had never told me anything about his friends. I had never known until he died that he had been married to you. I had no references and I knew no one would take an utter stranger into his home without one.

"Then I thought of the kindest, tenderest and most loyal woman in all the world and I have brought my letter—the letter which was put into my hands by my dying brother to you."

Leslie, the girl is really quite wonderful and I have been thinking that perhaps you might want her as nursery governess for little Jack, especially as very soon more or less of your time will have to be given to your new baby.

There is much more to tell you and some-day I want you to hear poor Harry's pitiful last letter, but just now I wish you would think this over and answer as soon as possible, for although Zoo and I have become great friends, she is not very happy, being what she calls, dependent on me. Sincerely, RUTH. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

"ENTICEMENT" TERMED A GLOWING ROMANCE

Glowing with romance, strong in dramatic situations, full of sensational thrills, rich in human appeal and abounding in pictorial beauty.

The foregoing summarizes our opinion of "Enticement," a First National attraction playing at the Elite Theatre for the last time tonight. It is from the studios of the Thomas L. Ince Corporation, and was directed by George Archambaud. The excellent cast which enacts this story by Clive Astor, Mary Astor, Ian Keith and Clive Brook.

along an audience's spine, is said to be embodied in the Roland West production of "The Monster," the Metro Goldwyn picture which will be shown at the Elite Theatre on Thursday and Friday.

There are ghastly hands that stretch forth menacingly, there are sliding panels in which queer faces appear, there are skeletons in closets, and a demented surgeon who fascinates his victims with hypnotic power. There is an exciting story of a mysterious disappearance, there are two young men in love with the same beautiful girl and their desire to win her by their boldness and courage, there are breathtaking moments that are said to make spectators hold on to their chairs in suspense.

THRILLING TALE OF LOVE AND ROMANCE IN NEW PICTURE

An unusual story of love and romance is told on the screen in the new Burton King production of "The Truth About Women" at the New Bijou Theatre today and Thursday. Not only is the story one of keen interest and entertainment from a general standpoint but the cast itself is a drawing card of exceptional merit. The principals in "The Truth About Women" include such a notable array of stars as Hope Hampton, Lowell Sherman, Mary Thurman and David Powell.

WORKMAN WAS A SUICIDE. MENASHA EMPLOYER CHARGES

Supreme Court Determines Whether William Kuhl Was Accidentally Killed

By Associated Press
Madison—Whether a workman whose widow was granted an award by the state industrial commission met his death accidentally or by suicide will be argued before the Wisconsin supreme court next Tuesday.

The case is before the high court on appeal from a decision of Judge E. Ray Stevens in the Dane county circuit court sustaining the commission's award of $4,600 to the widow of William Kuhl, against the Menasha Woodware company. The body of Kuhl, who was head fireman of the company, was found in a tank of water under the floor of the emergency pump room in the plant at Menasha.

The company contended that the circumstances of the drowning indicated suicide, seeking to show that the fireman entered the tank through a hole in the floor which ordinarily was covered.

The industrial commission, on the other hand, held that when the dead body of an employee is found on the premises of his employer at or near his regular place of service, under circumstances which probably occurred during the usual working hours of the deceased, the inference may fairly be drawn in the absence of evidence to the contrary that the employee was injured in the course of his employment.

ANNOUNCE SUBJECTS OF HYDE SPEAKERS

The readings that will be delivered by contestants in the annual Hyde declamatory contest have been announced at the high school. The contest will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the assembly room and will be open to the public. A small admission charge will be made. Miss Ruth McKenna, head of the dramatics department, has charge of the program and has been coaching the readers.

The following selections will be given: "Turkey Red," Miss Josephine Arndt; "The Christus" by Dana Burnett; "Herman Brockhaus," "The Lord's Prayer" by Frances; "Miss Josephine Buchanan," "The Battle of Pankow" by G. W. Johnston; "Miss Rithma Sharp," "The Coward" by Arthur Guy Empey; Clarence Wells.

The contestants will draw lots to determine the order of their appearance. The contest is an annual event for juniors and seniors and the winner is awarded a medal by F. C. Hyde.

Fellowship Of Prayer

Daily Lenten Bible reading prepared for Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

True Riches
Read: Lk. 16:11-13. Text: 16:13.
No servant can serve two masters.
Ye cannot serve God and mammon.

MEDITATION—In the mind of Jesus there was just one evil thing about money and that was its power to stimulate selfish interests. Selfishness is never satisfied. Money may be and should be a mighty factor in friendliness. One of the great lessons of life is to learn how to use wealth and power unselfishly. We can well believe that God will not trust eternal things to a man who in this life has not learned to use for others whatever he may have of wealth and power. The remedy which will prevent money being a power of evil is "to begin to use it, as soon as one has even a little of it, in friendly ways."

"All the good and all the evil which exist or defile a man have their seat within him, in his own character. The soul's wealth is the only real wealth. Christ's only injunction in the sphere of economics was 'Take heed and beware of covetousness.'"

PRAYER—Our Father, teach us the ways to use the wealth of the world. May it be the servant of thy will. Give us true wealth of soul. May the need of the world inspire us to industry and thrift that we may be able to help where help is needed. In His Name. Amen.

REMEMBER how you tingled when you got the ring? That's just the way you feel after using Jap Rose. Your skin glows and tingles. That's because Jap Rose gets down to the very roots of pores and cleanses them, brings new beauty.

AWAIT APPROPRIATION TO HIRE COUNTY MOTORCOPS

No plans have been made thus far for engaging county motorcycle officers, according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. Before a policy can be established, money must be appropriated by the county board to carry on the work. This is usually acted upon at the meeting which is held at the spring meeting which will open on May 1.

A Service That "Works"

The service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a service that "works"—under all conditions and in all seasons.

It "works" because this Company is scientifically progressive—because it creates wealth, constructs, builds. It "works" because this Company is inspired by the incentive to earn fair profits only, through honest, earnest and abundant service.

When automobiles were few, small refining companies could produce all the gasoline and oils needed. Efficiency was not essential, for petroleum in all forms was a drug on the market.

Now, when the highways swarm with 17½ million cars, efficiency is imperative. Only an organization as great in purpose as it is vast in scope can hope to supply the demands made upon it for oil products.

These millions of motorists want fuel—they need gasoline of standard, uniform quality. They expect to find it at every crossroad and at a low price.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has set for itself the job of supplying the gasoline and oils needed by these millions of motorists in the Middle West. No excuse for a delay here or a breakdown there ever is offered.

Motorists never are told that they cannot have gasoline because the refineries cannot produce it, or the distribution system has failed to function.

No matter what the drawbacks, the service of this Company "works"—year in and year out.

No nation can hope to hold its own in our modern, highly complex civilization without a great industrial system, based on reasonable rewards for honest service.

Only such a system develops great organizations—of which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is typical—which will work on the enormous scale required to the distinct advantage of society.

MENASHA INCLUDED IN NEW WISCONSIN BASEBALL LEAGUE

New Wheel, With Sheboygan, Kenosha, Beloit and Racine, Is Organized

Menasha—The Mid-West Baseball League, was reorganized as the Wisconsin State League at Milwaukee Tuesday and Menasha-Neenah is a member of it. The meeting was held at Hotel Martin and the Twin Cities were represented by Harry Gossett.

Other teams represented were Beloit, Racine, Kenosha, and Sheboygan. A 45-game schedule was arranged. It will include Saturday, Sunday and holiday ball only and the opening games will be played May 2 and 3.

The teams will be limited to 14 players. During the season several double headers will be played. It is understood Sheboygan and Menasha will build up their teams so as to compete with the others in strength.

The Twin-City team will hold booster games on Saturday and Sunday, April 25 and 26. Strong teams will be selected for the opponents.

The local management has strings out for several strong players. It is conceded that "Rube" Noble is capable of holding his own in any class of baseball and the strong clubs have a great deal of respect for him. It is not expected that infield of the local team will be changed.

Ray Handy has signed his contract as catcher and another catcher probably will be secured to assist him.

MENASHA ELECTRIC PLANT PAYS PROFIT OF OVER $20,000

Consulting Engineer Suggests Purchase of Another Diesel Engine

Menasha—During the last year the Menasha electric utility plant had a gross income of $64,681.60 and an operating expense including depreciation and taxes of $44,629.23, according to a letter which Alderman John Remmel received from J. S. Hartt, consulting engineer of Madison, Wis. This leaves $20,152.37 net revenue or a return of 3.23 per cent on book value as of Dec. 31, 1924, he declared.

"Your electric department as a whole," said Mr. Hartt, "is paying very well, and would recommend you to purchase another Diesel engine outfit out of earnings to make this plant more secure in cases of emergency and absolutely up to date in every respect. You can issue five year bonds against the plant for the purchase and easily retire them at the end of five years out of the earnings."

"In the past year your water utility had a gross income of $32,672.16 and an operating expense of $23,049.15. This leaves $9,623.01 net revenue for return, or 4.55 per cent on the book value of Dec. 31, 1924. While this is not a sufficient return for a commercial proposition I would not suggest raising the rates until after the city constructs a filtration plant and improves the kind of water delivered to the customers."

The bids submitted were on concrete and vibrolithic paving, the former being the most desired for these streets. The Joseph Schnelder company's bid on concrete was $27,930.33 and on vibrolithic $22,849.58; the L. A. Larson Co., Oshkosh, on concrete, $26,612.55 and the vibrolithic $23,809.60; the Chris Johnson Co., Oshkosh $25,721.22 on the concrete and $30,220.22 on the vibrolithic, while the Cox Construction Co., of Menasha submitted a bid on the concrete only $25,132.60.

The bid of Chris Johnson, the lowest, will be submitted to the meeting of the council Wednesday evening for approval. The board will first have to assess benefits and damages on the streets to be paved. This will be done at a meeting Wednesday evening.

WEATHER FOR WISCONSIN
Fair tonight; slightly warmer in extreme southwest portion Thursday; increasing cloudiness and rising temperatures in east portion.

GENERAL WEATHER
High pressure continues over the central portion of the country with lower pressure over the Rocky mountain region. Scattered showers have fallen over portions of the west during the past 24 hours and the "low" in the west appears to be gaining somewhat in energy. Meanwhile the high pressure over this section is weakening slowly. There appears to be sufficient strength in the "high" to continue to dominate conditions here Wednesday night and Thursday, however, with generally fair weather and moderate temperatures.

PYTHIANS HEAR TAX DISCUSSION

Neenah—A discussion of the bills pending before the Wisconsin legislature was given by Attorney Bayward Cannon of Appleton at a special meeting of the Knights of Pythias of Neenah Tuesday evening. Mr. Cannon explained the effect the repeal of the personal property offset would have on general property taxes, declaring that the repeal of the offset and the increase in income tax exemptions would be merely a shifting of the burden now borne by general property over to incomes and would have a tendency to increase prices quoted by manufacturers and merchants. This increase in cost of merchandise would, in the end, be borne by the farmer, laborer and general property owners he said, would, under the provisions of this bill, continue to bear most of the tax burdens and the primary purpose of the bill would be defeated.

Mr. Cannon pointed out the possibilities of evasion in the present motor vehicle tax law after which a number of motor boats, aircraft and tractors who do not come under the provisions of this law, would be able to use this exemption to evade the tax.

Father had lost sixty pounds in weight and was yellow as saffron and no medicine helped him. Telling a friend about it six months ago, she advised taking May's Wonderful Remedy. I got a bottle and it helped father at once. He was able to go back to work a month later, has regained his weight and strength and eats like a wood chopper." PROFIT AS WELL AS PLEASURE IN MORLEY'S SERIES

Second Book of Modern Essays Full of Intimate Biographical Sketches

BY MATT O. ROEMER

In selecting material for his second series of Modern Essays, recently published by Harcourt, Brace and Co., Christopher Morley had the tastes and predilections of the college student in mind. The eagerness, enthusiasm and curiosity of the new generation inspired the author in his choice, but his hope that others also may find profit and pleasure in his book seems likely to be realized. Mr. Morley chose some of the works of the greatest essayists of his era but his own comment in the intimate biographical introduction of each chapter pre-fitting each essay is of as great profit to the student of literature and as deep interest to the casual reader as the pen portraits and sketches it fills out and completes.

Thus, in explaining Will H. Low's Epilogue to an Epilogue, Mr. Morley explains that Robert Louis Stevenson, known to him and to his other more intimate friends as R. L. S., addressed his epilogue to "The Wrecker" to Mr. Lowe, and that the essay he is introducing was written in reply more than 20 years later. This bit of delightful biography written in a style that might be called "chatty," probably is most nearly typical of Mr. Morley's work. It is full of advice to the reader, which, if followed, must result in the acquisition of a liberal education in the interlocking problems of art and literature.

The epilogue itself is one of the most interesting of the group of 31 essays that comprise the volume, casting a most intimate light on the otherwise hidden sources of Stevenson's "The Wrecker." It tells of life in the old Quartier Latin of Paris where R. L. S. gathered many of the stories incorporated in his tale of London Dold, which character, Stevenson wrote to Low's wife, was "drawn a good deal from the degenerate W. H. L." W. H. L. is Low himself and the "degenerate" is an affectionate exaggeration. It would be difficult, if not impossible, to choose an essay from among the 31 that might be classified as best, for each is in a class by itself. Stephen Leacock's "Oxford As I See It" opens the volume with subtle and goodnatured satire; next comes William Archer, dealing with the promotion of good fellowship between all Anglo-Saxon peoples with his "The Great Stupidity." Maurice Hewlett, Edward Townsend Booth, Willa Cather, Samuel Scott, Jr., Princess Elizabeth Bibesco and R. W. Chapman are among the best known names listed in the table of contents.

Typically American and more especially of the Midwest, is an extract from the works of Sherwood Anderson, called "Ohio: III" in the volume. Mr. Morley informs us, in one of a series of articles dealing with "these United States" written for the New York Nation by various hands, Sherwood Anderson, we are told in Morley's introduction, is self educated to a degree. Through his own efforts he raised himself from the drudgery of a small town manufacturer and, down, has "taught himself to put down, simple fidelity, the 'dreaminess' of his heart." Of this "dreaminess" there is a trace in the essay itself, but chiefly it is rather blunt satire directed at the practical and entirely unlovely efforts of midwestern manufacturing centers to achieve beauty, as a businessman understands it.

If one is seeking delightful description let him turn to the pages bearing "Dragon's Blood," by Samuel Scott, Jr., or to "The Dead," from the vigorous but somewhat heavy pen of Stephen Graham, or to Alexander Woolcott's charmingly tender description of a World War veteran's postwar reconnoitre with the Bretonne patronne of a patisserie, much frequented by himself and his mother during the almost forgotten days in France. This last cannot help but revive touching memories in the hearts of all who were fortunate enough to enjoy the care and motherly hospitality of such simple and unpretentious souls as Madame Cocaud, who is the heroine of the vivid sketch. They were secure enough, God knows, and looked upon their marvellous neighbors as foux. Woolcott permits us to eather from his tale. But the unselfishness and self-sacrifice of one of these mothers, in the hearts of all who experienced it long after time obliterated all memory of grasping profiteers and too shrewd bargainners. To do justice to each author represented in Morley's volume would require columns of print, and if it be not widely read the public will be the loser in the sense of enjoyment infinitely more than the author in pecuniary profits.

Gossip About Book People

MODERN POETESS

Marion Strobel, whose first volume of verse entitled "Once in a Blue Moon," is being published by Harcourt, Brace and Company this month, writes criticism, short stories and verse in her spare hours. She is a young woman of varied interests, plays a better game of golf than most, dances, swims, rides and takes her part in the normal social life of Chicago with more than ordinary verve. Just as the young men of today who write poetry do not adopt the long hair and open collar of the nineties, so the ladies do not languish in sequestered boudoirs. The new group of women poets is active, vivid, normal and keen. Marion Strobel is one of the most alive of them all.

Flapper Wings Will Be
Clipped Shorter Soon

"The American girl was merely doing a little pioneer work with the social conventions. But, like the pioneer, she is now settling. Within the last few years she has changed her ideas about 'expressing herself.' We must remember that year upon year she had been forced to conform to all the set formalities and it was only natural that, upon being liberated a bit, she should go to the extreme."

Thus does Dorothy Speare, the very clever young writer of Boston, discuss "the passing of the flapper" and the departure of the young feminine extremists.

Now Miss Speare has been doing quite a bit of "expressing herself," and while, but 24 years of age, has managed to turn out two quite successful novels and become a grand opera singer of European fame. Her books are "Dancers in the Dark" (Doran) and "The Gay Year" and are written around her observations of the American younger set.

She is now in Paris, preparing for a million debut in "Traviata." Several European critics have declared her voice to be one of the rare finds, although she is little known as a singer in this country.

Just before sailing she was more inclined to discuss the "younger generation" than her own success.

"There was a period, just after the war, when almost any girl just out of school expected to do something of consequence, and it didn't make a bit of difference whether there was any talent for the chosen work. This over-ego period, while still bothering

GREY'S BOOK MOST POPULAR LAST WEEK

Variety of Books in Demand at Appleton Public Library

Great variety was shown in the types of books wanted most last week at Appleton Public Library, for the public wanted to read those by Zane Grey, Burns Mantle, Rosa Macaulay, Philip Gibbs, Sabatini and Bertie Ruck. "The Thundering Herd" by Ruck headed the list, and so is classed as the most popular. After that came "The Best Plays of 1923 and 1924" by Burns Mantle, "Orphan Island" by Rosa Macaulay, "The Reckless Lady" by Gibbs, "The Sea Hawk" by Sabatini and Bertie Ruck's "Lucky in Love."

There has been great demand for books on presidents, due to a contest that is running in a Chicago newspaper, it was said at the library.

Nature books were circulated to a great extent in the children's department and not only books on birds in general, but articles and books on certain birds were called for. The life of Sir Galahad was much in demand, both by adults and children. Other books wanted were "Adrift on an Ice-pan" by Wilfred Grenfell and the life of Grenfell by Dillon Wallace.

The children's department has 100 stereographs, views of national parks, and four stereoscopes. These will be loaned to school teachers for classroom use.

"pink" but "red." Though from a Tory family, he burned with zeal for the common people and he had ideas that would be considered advanced today.

But there have been other radicals at thirty who were conservatives at 50. Wordsworth for instance. Would Upton Sinclair be so enthusiastic about Shelley if he had lived to be an old man and had changed his politics?

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

"THE FINEST MIND THE ENGLISH RACE HAS PRODUCED"

The following is quoted from Upton Sinclair's "Mammonart," just published. "Percy Bysshe Shelley died at the age of 30, drowned in a storm while sailing a boat; and with him perished the finest mind the English race has produced. I make this statement deliberately, knowing the ridiculous will exclaim; but I ask you, before you decide, take the men of genius of England one by one, wipe out their lives and leave the age of 30, and see what you have left. Will you take Shakespeare? You will know him as the author of 'Venus and Adonis' and 'The Rape of Lucrece' and 'Love's Labor's Lost' and 'The Comedy of Errors' and possibly 'Richard III' and some sonnets. Will you take Milton, with 'L'Allegro' and 'Il Penseroso' and 'Comus' and 'Lycidas' and nothing else?"

Sinclair seems to make out a case for his hero. One could probably go through the whole of the history of English literature and subject every writer to the test: What had he accomplished at the age of thirty? And it is at least possible to maintain that no one had done more than Shelley.

DOES IT PROVE UP?

But does that prove the point that he was "the finest mind the English race has produced"? Ignoring the fact that there are mighty fine minds who never wrote a line—obviously Sinclair means the finest mind among English writers—did Shelley have the best mind because he had produced more deathless poetry at thirty than any other English writer at the same age?

To maintain that Upton Sinclair has to go on the assumption that had Shelley lived he would have kept on growing. The argument implied in the statement is something like this: At thirty Shelley had produced more great poetry than Shakespeare or Milton or any other English writer at the same age; hence if he had lived to the ages attained by Shakespeare or Milton or any of the other great figures he would have been greater than any of them.

But that does not at all follow. We have not the slightest assurance that had he lived Shelley would have gone on producing as he had begun. There is nothing to prove to us that he had not practically exhausted himself at the time of his death, pumped, his mind dry as it were, and that if he had lived to be 50 his work that really counts would have been any greater in volume than it is today.

WOULD HAVE GONE ON

Doubtless he would have gone on writing. But there are plenty of examples of men who went on writing year after year after they had shot their intellectual wad, without producing anything new that was significant. Some minds mature early, some late. It is well known that often a precocious child is never heard from after he has grown up. In literary history there are many examples of men of great promise in their youth, who produced works of genius when they were hardly more than mere boys, but who suddenly stopped and merely repeated themselves. Until almost the day of his death friends of Samuel Taylor Coleridge expected that he would fulfil the brilliant promise of his youth. Coleridge could have died many years before he did without an inch being taken off his literary reputation. On the contrary, his sterile later years have served to dim the glory of his early productive years, and it is reasonable to suppose that the same thing might have been true of Shelley. At least it is a possibility.

There is a reason for the glorification by Upton Sinclair of the mind of Shelley over all the other minds in English literary history. Shelley's social ideas and ideals were more like Sinclair's than were those of any other man among English writers. He was an ultraradical—not merely

More Than A Printed Page

It takes more than columns of words set in type to build a service like that given, day in and day out, to the people of Appleton and vicinity by the Post-Crescent's Classified Advertising Page.

The real story back of the little ads that you see under the different headings lies in the service that these advertisers, as well as the hundreds of readers who watch the wants and offers, are getting every day.

It's a service that works "both ways from the middle." The users of these little ads are looking for results. The many who consult the classified columns daily are on the lookout for opportunities.

And the Post-Crescent gives both groups what they want. That's service!

Be sure that you read the A-B-C Classified ads—today and every day.

FIX CALENDAR FOR NEXT SCHOOL YEAR

The school calendar for the school year 1925-1926 was fixed at a meeting of the board of education Tuesday afternoon. Teachers for senior high school and the junior high schools were discussed.

The fall term will open Sept. 8 and close on Dec. 18, 1925, lasting 15 weeks. The winter term is scheduled to begin on Jan. 5 and to close on March 26, 1926, a period of 12 weeks, while the spring term will begin on April 5 and close on June 4, 1926, lasting 9 weeks. This makes a total of 36 weeks for the full year.

According to Miss Carrie Morgan, superintendent, only those applications were considered Tuesday that came from present teachers in the Appleton schools. With three or four exceptions they all are expected to hold their positions, but applications for positions here are pouring in by the hundreds. These will be considered after all the present teachers have taken definite action on their contracts for the next term.

M. Spencer Wednesday morning in municipal court. The sentence was suspended, however, during his good behavior.

CHICAGO GRAIN TABLE

U. S. BASIS LAW, LIKE BIBLE, DOES NOT NEED CHANGE

Chicago Attorney Tells Businessmen Constitution Is Almost Perfect Document

"The real birthday of the United States is Sept. 17, 1787, the date of the ratification of the Constitution by congress, and not on July 4, 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was signed," Harry Atwood, Chicago attorney, declared in an address at a joint luncheon of Appleton Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs in the Conway hotel at noon Tuesday. As proof of his assertion Mr. Atwood cited extracts from letters written by George Washington in the interim between the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, and the adoption of the constitution on Sept. 17, 1787. In these letters, of which he wrote 150, the "father of his country," grown pessimistic through his long years as surveyor in the Colony of Virginia, his strenuous service in the Revolutionary war and the years of chaos and threatening disruption that followed, foresaw immediate doom for the government and he and his colleagues had established, "unless some miracle should raise the cloud of dark despair."

FOUNDED REPUBLIC

Deploing the lack of familiarity of the average American citizen with the contents of the constitution, Mr. Atwood stated this document was one of the most important and far-reaching in the history of the world. "If the Constitution of the United States were translated into all languages and interpreted to the Russians and other peoples now striving against chaos, it would, without a doubt, clarify the situation at once. The makers of the constitution in drafting this great document sought to establish a republic, in the sense of a representative form of government. They opposed to democracy as we interpret it."

"The initiative referendum and recall, a Wisconsin idea, was an old story to them and they warned against it. They realized that the Greeks and Romans lost their world power through too much interference from the people, who, easily swayed by demagogues, upset the plans of levelheaded statesmen. They realized that Pontius Pilate was a victim of 'popular will.' When the mob, incited to hatred and violence by the Pharisees, seized Jesus and without semblance of right led him before Pilate and demanded his life, Pilate told them: 'I find this man innocent of wrong and your charges unjustified,' and if the people had had any regard for the laws of their country, he would have walked forth from the tribunal vindicated."

"Let us apply the modern idea of democracy to baseball. Imagine thousands of fans assembled in the bleachers and grand stands. The first move, the initiative, would be a primary election to select the team. That would require at least several hours under our present efficient system, and attended by great interest. When the recent primary here, when some vice bird in the bleachers would get up, fling back his mop of hair with a movement of both hands and say: 'Well, I've been doing some progressive thinking, and before this game can progress I believe we should pass a law that all decisions of the umpires should be referred to the bleacherites.' That would be the referendum. Then this same bird, who has a cousin in the stands who wants a job on the team, gets up again: 'Well, he says, I've been doing some more progressive thinking, and I've reached the conclusion we should not allow this game to go on until we've passed a law that any man on the team can be replaced by a new one on a petition signed by 600 bleacherites.' The law is passed, the best player taken out on petition of the 600 and the second cousin put in his place. That's the recall."

There are many people in the United States who profess to have outgrown the constitution, Mr. Atwood said. "If there are any such here," he told his audience, "let them consider the preamble. This is the greatest and clearest statement of rights outside the Bible. It is 123 years old, but I challenge any man to find a more precise and clearer one, or one better applicable to present conditions, as they may be 1,000,000 years from now."

The makers of the constitution were acquainted with socialism and most other forms of radicalism, Mr. Atwood repeated. Therefore they went into secret session when they were framing the constitution and doled out such information as they

GOVERNMENT CREWS REPORT FOR WORK

Navigation on the Fox Expected to Begin Within Two Weeks

BULLETIN
Formal notice that navigation on the Fox river will be opened on April 6 was received at the United States engineers' office here on Wednesday. The order was signed by Gilbert Van B. Wilkes, district engineer, Milwaukee.

Crews of government boats and dredges operating on the Fox river have received official orders to report at their regular positions beginning Wednesday. Most of the men worked during the winter as laborers or mechanics on the boats, but they now will return to their regular jobs in the boat crews. Twenty-eight men, or seven for each of the four government boats on the Fox reported for regular duty on Wednesday.

The ice has been breaking rapidly in Lake Winnebago and the upper reaches and Fox river navigation will probably be opened officially between April 1 and 15.

The four government boats which were tied up during the winter are the tugs Wolf and Fox, the dredges DePere and Omro. The Wolf and Fox were in winter quarters at Kaukauna as was the dredge DePere. The Omro was tied up at the city dock at Menasha. The DePere is a new steel dredge which was built last summer.

deemed proper through a series of articles signed by the Federalist. They did not need a "bunch of bums in the gallery to look wise and spit tobacco juice over the railing."

"What the scale is to music, what the ten digits are to mathematics and what the alphabet is to language, the constitution is to the science of government," Mr. Atwood said. "Neither the musical scale, nor the ten digits nor the alphabet have been changed since their inception, so why change the constitution? Many rant of 'democracy' in these days of 'progressive thinking,' but we find no mention of democracy in the constitution. When I see some of the modern radicals standing on their soapboxes and waving their arms, I'm inclined to think their circulation is so strong below their elbows that there's none left above the shoulders."

The joint meeting was opened with the national anthem, accompanied on the piano by Carl McKee. This was followed by luncheon, after which the Misses Catherine Russell and Miriam Peabody of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music rendered the Chromatic A scale and the Danse Macabre, arranged for two pianos.

Adam C. Remley, president of the chamber of commerce, at the beginning of the meeting prepared to take a vote of members to nominate a nominating committee for new officers, but on the motion of George Wettengel it was decided to dispense with the nomination and appoint nominators instead.

MAPLE CREEK CITIZENS LEGALIZE SCHOOL ACTION

Citizens of Maple Creek legalized the building of a one-room school house in that district by a large majority vote at a meeting in the old school Monday evening. A building committee appointed at the meeting met Tuesday with A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, to make further plans for the work.

The old school was condemned by the state several years ago, but disension in the district prevented action on a new building. At a meeting last week, at which talks were given by George S. Dick, of the state department of education, and Mr. Meating, the taxpayers decided to erect a new building but a regular vote was required to legalize the proceedings.

CHAIMSON TRIAL PUT OFF A WEEK

Green Bay—The trial of W. E. Chaimson and Louis Boehm, Shawano, on charges of manslaughter and failure to assist in connection with an automobile accident which caused the death of Miss Martha Marshall, DePere, has been postponed until April 8. It was to have been called Tuesday. The absence of Joseph Martin, counsel for the defense, from the city was the basis for the delay.

Raymond Stein of Oshkosh spent Tuesday in Appleton on business.

AFTER HER BABY CAME

Mrs. Hollister Unable To Do Her Work for Six Months

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

MRS. HENRY HOLLISTER
WYANDOTTE, MICHIGAN

Wyandotte, Michigan.—"After my baby was born I did not do my own work for six months and could hardly take care of my own baby. I always had a pain in my right side and it was so bad I was getting round shoulders. I would feel well one day and then feel so bad for three or four days that I would be in bed. One Sunday my mother came to see how I was, and she said a friend told her to tell me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So the next day I got a bottle and before it was half taken I got relief. After I was well again I went to the doctor and he asked me how I was getting along. I told him I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and he said it did not hurt any one to take it. I am always recommending the Vegetable Compound to others and I always have a bottle of it on hand."—Mrs. HENRY HOLLISTER, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 7, Wyandotte, Michigan.

Another Woman's Case

St. Paul, Minnesota.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two, and bearing-down pains all the time. I also had dizzy spells. I had read several letters of women in the newspapers, and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing-down feeling is gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 West Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Special Showing of New
Stocks that Have Just Arrived

Easter Millinery

$5.—$10.—$15.—$20.

MORE EASTER HATS than you have ever seen at one time before arrived this morning. Miss Gannter has been in the market for several days, selecting this special Pre-Easter display that is the big Millinery feature of the week in Appleton. Just the hat that you have pictured for yourself is here, at a price that is perhaps just a little below what you had imagined it would be! Small hats that conform closely to the outlines of the head; larger hats that look a bit more dressy; tailored hats and fluffy hats—all are here for Easter.

Our new showing of hats is separated into convenient price groups. Each group includes a complete array of styles, types and colorings. These groups present surprising values at $5., at $7.50, at $10., at $15., and upwards to $25. Many exclusive models by the finest makers have arrived for this final moment before Easter.

CHILDREN'S HATS—several hundred new children's hats will be displayed tomorrow in the separate room for children. These hats are surprisingly smart in their styling and materials. $1.75 upwards to $5.50.

Nothing Like These Results A Year Ago or Now

It is no trick to build a car that will go 65 or 70 miles an hour if it has a power plant big enough to haul a freight train.

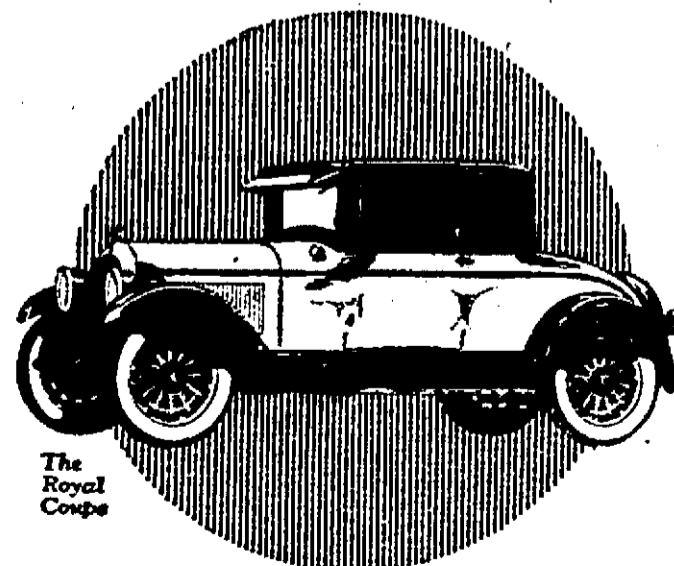

It's a great achievement to get over 70 miles an hour out of a motor of 3-inch bore and 4 1/4-inch stroke, with gasoline mileage safely above 20 miles per gallon.

And that's the wonder of the Chrysler Six—a wonder so different and so superior that Chrysler was forced to build over 32,000 cars to meet the first-year demand.

Of course you don't want to drive your Chrysler over 70 miles an hour. In fact you may never go that fast. But there is something you do want that only a speed-ability of 70 miles can give.

That something is sure, steady power for steepest hill or deepest sand, a pick-up to flash you out of a traffic tangle, sturdy, dogged pull so you can throttle to five, even two miles an hour, on high without "bucking."

That's Chrysler performance in a nutshell. You surely must drive the car. It's the only way you can fully appreciate that it is the best built car you ever rode in. We are always eager to demonstrate the Chrysler.
